

INTRODUCTION

The Onofre D. Corpuz (ODC) Lecture Series on Public Sector Management is a Continuing Education Program of the Academy's School of Productivity, Governance and Management (SPGM) - Institute of Public Management. The IPM runs the Master in Public Management (MPM). Through the unique program design and distinguished pool of faculty from public and private institutions, the MPM Program has endeavored to help a critical mass of middle level managers who can make significant contributions in their respective agencies. Long after its students have graduated from the program, the MPM continues to cultivate and sustain in its graduates a sense of mission and zeal for public service. The Academy launched the ODC Lecture Series to update and keep the public managers informed of emerging public sector concerns. Through enlightened discussions with the featured speakers, the public managers are expected to gain a better understanding of the dynamic environment in which they operate.

The DAP Master in Public Management (MPM) Program is a graduate degree course for career managers in national agencies and local government units, international development agencies and non-profit organizations.

The MPM Offers:

- High caliber faculty composed of the two CEOs and officials from government and private organizations as well as ODA institutions and NGOs.
- An intensive program that equips students with knowledge, approaches, managerial tools and values development in such areas as governance, organization development, human resource management, environmental management, sustainable development, quality management and development management.
- Full time or part time modes with classroom, internet and field-based learning methodologies with extensive practical applications.
